"Pass what on?"
"Well, we've tried to keep it a secret for several years now, but there's just no hiding the truth."
"What's the big secret?"
"We hate to brag, so keep it under wraps, but the truth is Menchville is the best."
"What's so great about Menchville?"
"Well, for one thing . . .

the 1975 CROWN,

published by the students of Menchville High School, which, as you can see, is located at 275 Menchville Road, in Newport News, Virginia 23602.

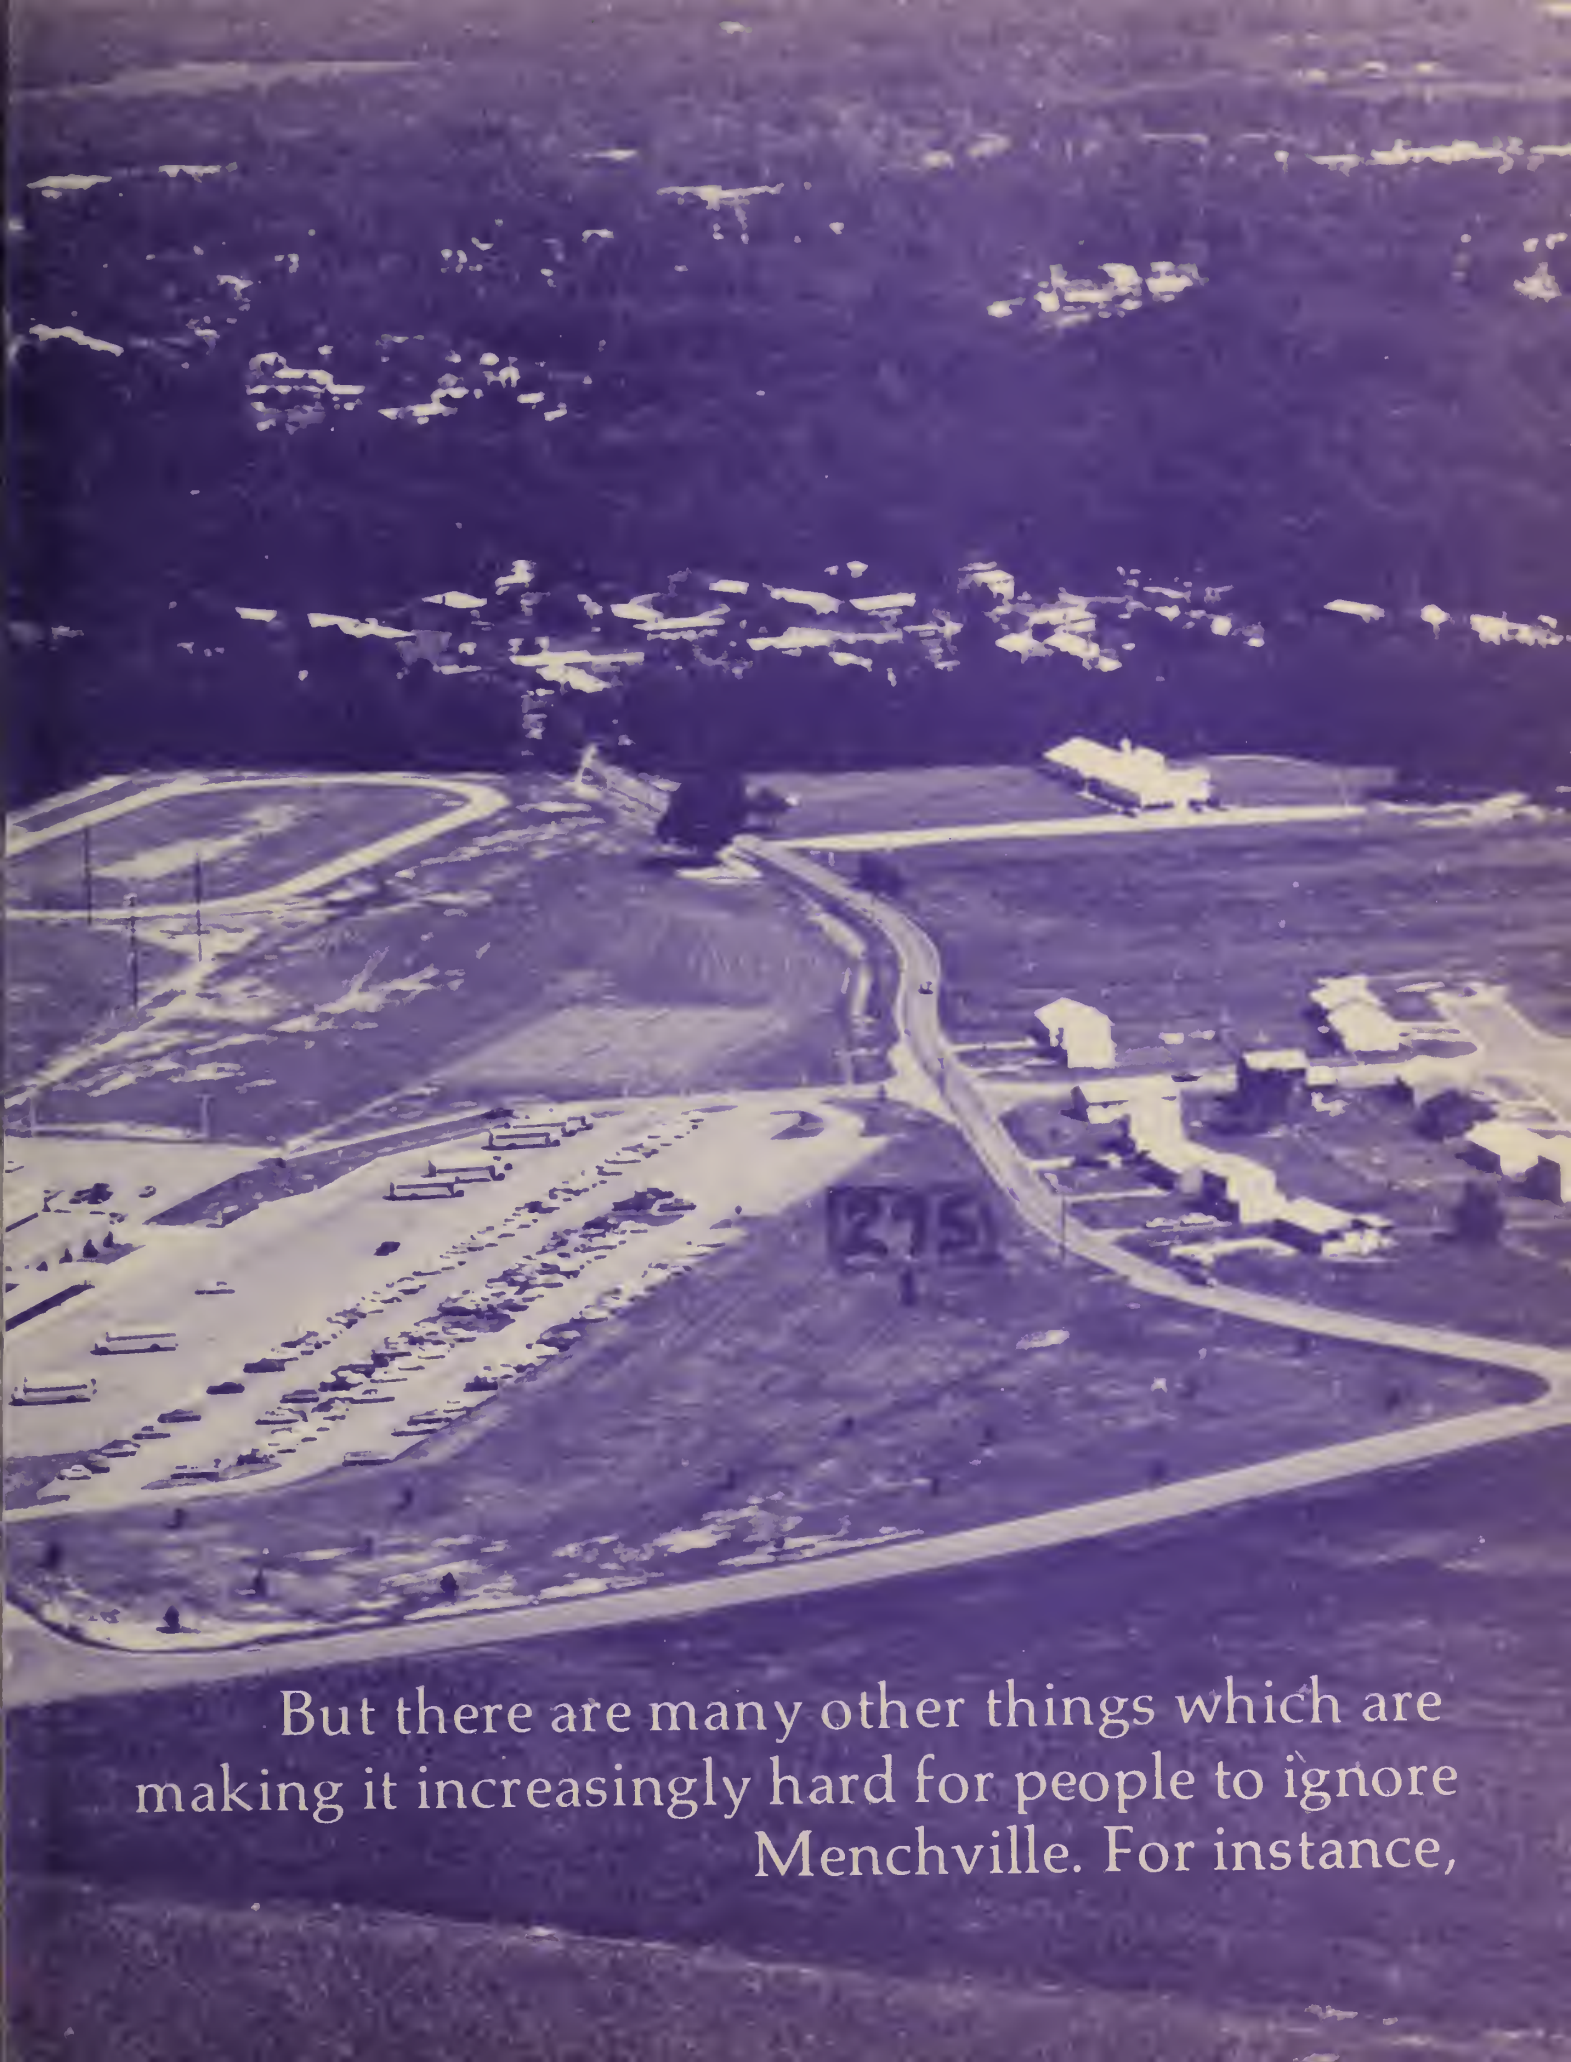
Included in this year's book are an activities section on page 8, a sports section on page 64, the annual Menchville's Gold on page 113, and a section on the people on page 129.



But there are many other things which are making it increasingly hard for people to ignore Menchville. For instance,

We are making ourselves more visible in service to our community, our state, our nation and to the world. It seems that every day, someone or some group from Menchville is on the road spreading the Monarch gospel.

Floyd

And Monarchs work hard, study hard, and play hard.

The words and pictures on the following pages will give the reader an opportunity to share the experience that was Menchville 1974-1975, and to share that experience with the good people who made it work."

"Don't look now, but Mr. Solomon is . . ." "Bachelorette No. 1, if you, your mother, and I were stranded on a desert island, who would you room with?" "Is Killer Kelly's class doing another project or is it Thirties Day?" "I'm stunned! You mean this ice cream came from a supermarket?" "Are you sure this is the way Elvis Presley got started?" People developed their interests and talents; each participated in activities as diverse and varied as Menchville's 2000 personalities.

Activities

Countries of the world are depicted in Christmas parade. Parents participated in the annual banquet. Russian goulash and chicken chow mein were only a few of the dishes prepared by Geography Club members. Two geography clubbers, representing the United States, led the Hampton Christmas parade. Laurie Looney became Menchville's own Uncle Sam.

REACH OUT AND TOUCH

Costumes, caroling, parades, speakers, flags, and trips characterized the Geography Club. The theme for this year was "Reach Out and Touch." They touched a city in India by sending money to help buy a blood machine. They marched in the Hampton Christmas Parade dressed in the costumes of 70 different countries. On Christmas, one member dressed as Santa Claus surprised 4 small children with dinner and presents. Thirty foreign soldiers from Ft. Eustis who were unable to go home for the holidays, were entertained by a banquet, slide show, and foreign costume show. The Geography Club's one goal is to bring about understanding within the school, the community, the world, and themselves. Caring about people and the environment around them, they are united by the belief that there is world understanding through geography.

ALL NEW: HARVARD MODEL U.N.

A new interest was added to Menchville in 1974: the Harvard Model United Nations. In December, a group of twenty-two students, accompanied by Mr. Crippen, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Sandy, journeyed to Boston, representing the countries of Thailand and Norway. Model U.N. was a crash course in parliamentary procedure, combined with exausting pre-visit work. Before leaving for Boston the students were assigned topics dealing with their countries. They had to know everything about their topics for the upcoming discussions and debates. For its extensive preseparation, the Thailand delegation was honored by being named the Best Delegation in Plenary Session.

Jeff Haynes and Tammy Bluhm prepare for discussion of Thailand's economy. Confusion reigns as the delegates await the start of another session.

TRIP BRINGS FUN, EXHAUSTION

No time to eat or sleep: this described the hectic week spent in Washington by a member of the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans. Menchville sent a total of fifteen delegates to the Classroom over a period of six weeks, with two or three students going every week. While in Washington, the many activities required of the students resulted in mad rushing from place to place, with little or no time to rest. There were speeches to hear and seminars to attend; there was a visit to the theatre and a dance and banquet at the end of the week. As one student said upon her return, "It was worth it!"

Before leaving for Washington, Janet Thomas and Anne Stiles attend a preparatory meeting. At a seminar, Dean Short asks a question while Elaine Rhoads takes notes.

Sign, simply put, tells the tale. Keyette squints in the sunlight. Preparations carry on for another Keyette induction.

The 1974-75 Keyettes are: Front Row: Miss Morene, sponsor; Mrs. Tomlinson, sponser, Jill Synder, Corr. Wanted:

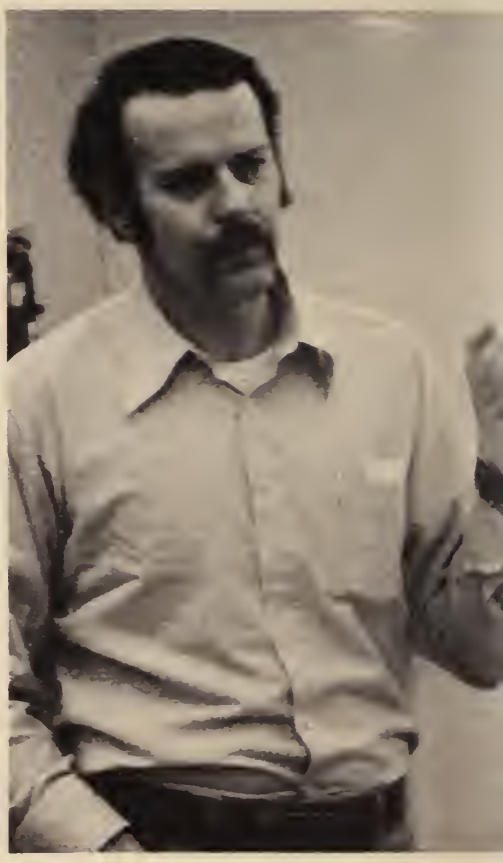
Female: member of the class of '75, '76, or '77; must have school spirit; a willingness to work hard; and most important is the personality quality of being able to have a fantastic time.

The 51 girls who filled these qualifications this year have now earned the right to be called Keyettes. But these is more to it than just the name. During the trial period, the club was involved in many activities. Keyettes held two successful bake sales to start off the new year. As door to door sales women, they sold a tremendous number of donuts—over 500 dozen. As school spirit promoters, Keyettes sold antennae toppers and handed out baked goods to athletes. The International Keyette project of the year was the American Red Cross. Various projects have included helping at the Peninsula YMCA bloodmobile, and providing refreshments and entertainment monthly at the Veterans Hospital in Hampton.

GET INTO THE ACTION

Continuing its tradition of service, the Key Club contributed to the school and the community. They started off the year by collecting for Muscular Dystrophy. Key clubbers spread the holiday cheer by providing a needy family with a complete turkey dinner. Demonstrating the true Christmas spirit, they gave a party for students at a school for special children. At school, the Key Club sponsored a 50's day when nostalgic fashions paraded the halls. That night at the dance, students strolled and jitterbugged. Proving that the club was not all work, they particitpated in a volleyball tournament at Bethel and placed third.



John Krzeski, Randy Sarfan, and Steve Parker listen intently as officers speak. J.R. Goetcheus, Walt Pace, and Donald Robinson man the music equipment at fifties dance. Sponsor Mr. Pennell offers his advice and personal opinion.

Key clubbers discuss upcoming activities.

Penny loafers, long skirts, and pony tails were sure signs that Fifties Day had returned. Sponsored by the Key Club on January 17, students joined in the fun by doing the jitterbug at the pep assembly and going to the dance later that night. A jitterbug contest was held there. The runners-up received hula hoops and the winners, Lynn Bobbitt and Brian Cardwell, won a free dinner for two at a local restaurant.

Cathy Smoot and Mr. Pennell attempt to do "the stroll." Slow dancing offers a chance to relax after the jitterbug. Twirling skirts and tired legs are indications of Fifties dancing. Fifties "chicks" turn to Tommy Kersey for help with the dances. The correct way to hula hoop is shown by Susan Seguin. Kevin Newman tries to demonstrate the jitterbug technique.

AERONAUTICS

Found Fascinating

Building model airplanes, constructing rockets, and participating in launchings were the main activities of the ROTC rocket club. A clear sunny day was a sign that the rocket club would be conducting a rocket-firing demonstration by the side of the school. The purpose of the club was to create new interests in areo-space activities.

The National Honor Society introduced a new venture in club projects—a Monarch Dinner Theater. Co-sponsoring the activity was the Thespian Society, who presented the play "Butterflies Are Free", following dinner in the commons area. The evening meal was served in flickering candlelight with relaxing mood music from strolling minstrel and a piano, in addition to the widely varied menu that was offered.

International Student Day in March involved the NHS in a reception held in honor of the foreign exchange students. As a Monarch tradition, the newly inducted members were the guests of honor at a reception held immediately following the induction ceremony. Also in their honor, the NHS sponsored a dance to conclude the year.

After their dinner, guest relax to the melodies of violins and pianos. Sponsors display their good humour while screening possible inductees.

SPOTLIGHT

The Videotape Crew Is: Kevin O'Sullivan, Willie Gainey, Mr. Bowen, sponser, Carl Ricks, Eric Thiessen.

Various members of Menchville's student body found themselves in the spotlight as they were being filmed by the videotape crew. Cameras were present at most every school activity. With films of sports events available, coaches and teams could learn form their mistakes. Actors and singers delighted in watching themselves perform. Occasionally, students and teachers found themselves behind the camera as they filmed everyday class activities. The tapes were also helpful in the evaluation of the teachers and student teachers.

A small but enthusiastic FHA was formed this year. Girls with a shared interest in homemaking met with Mrs. Palmer to plan activities. They provided entertainment at a faculty party. They donated to the Toys For Tot Fund and the Thanksgiving drive. In February, they sold Valentines to students and faculty. The year ended with a party for members and friends.

The Future Homemakers of America Are: Mrs. Palmer, sponsor, Anita Owens, Emmalee Israel, Brenda Chittenden, Kim Pipkin, Joyce Gray, Jackie Ralph, Rita Kirts.

Something for EVERYBODY!

Creativity was the main aim of the Art Club this year. Adding their own touch to the Christmas Season, they silk screened and sold Christmas cards. Memories of Fifties Day were kept when the Art Club took picutures of dudes and chicks next to an old Ford. These and other activities kept the club busy.

Different creations of the Art Club members are displayed in the showcase. Ronny Maynard creates designs for Christmas cards. President Lisa Furr observes progress of the Art Club project for the Fine Arts Festival..

S.A.C.: INTERNAL COORDINATORS

Ironing out conflicts and organizing dates of activities were the key objectives of the newly-formed Student Affairs Committee. Through the SAC, clubs were able to plan and carry through projects. They saw to it that no clubs duplicated money-raising activities. The SAC sponsored a co-operative dance to which all clubs pooled their funds and shared in its profits.

Mr. Richard Carter evaluated the SAC as follows: "This organization gives the students an opportunity to take part in decision-making policies. It has been quite successful, but there is a need for more involvement from some of the smaller organizations here at MHS."

plug into campus life...

Burger Bash . . . . Mud Bowl . . . Canada Man Hunt . . . Haunted House . . . Disney World . . . Battle of the Bods . . . Rafting . . . what better way is ther to get away from homework? Campus Life provides activities designed to amuse and entertain all who attend. The year started with a mammoth Mud Bowl and Burger Bash, where Menchville, having the largest turnout, won a first place trophy. At the annual "Scream in the Dark", eager students helped paint, build, apply make-up, and finally took on Werewolf. Hundreds of students ventured to Canada and Florida during Christmas and Spring breaks. The school year wound up with a giant "Battle of the Bods", giving aall participants an outlet to their frustrations.

Besides these special events, Ike Newingham, Director of Campus Life, led meetings each week at various homes. Such topics as drugs, drinking, and dating were discussed and opinions from everyone were welcomed. So this is Campus Life—good times, singing, sharing, answers to problems, people who care, hope for tomorrow.

Gail Weaver finds herself sightly disarrayed after an episode of tug-of-war across a mud filled puddle. Rosey Scott experiences the shock of his life. Mud bath, anyone? Campus Life's first activity of the year was the Mud Bowl on Nettles Drive.

TULIPS AND TRAILS

A study of scientific careers and ecology-orientated activities dominated the year for Science Club members. Speakers ranged from a representative of the American Heart Association, to a visit from the supervisor of the city. Activities were generally concerned with ecology, and included the planting of tulip bulbs in front of the school. The establishment of a nature trail behind the school was another Science Club achievement.

IT'S NOT HOW BIG YOU ARE THAT COUNTS. IT'S HOW WELL YOU PLAY THE GAME.

For the first time since the establishment of MHS, the chess team walked away with a trophy. Diligent practice sessions during and after school (not to mention at home) produced the peninsula's number one chess team. The team consisted of two 3-year veterans—Mike Poplawski and Ed Dadez, two 2-year veterans—John Mitchell a and Benn Rodrigo, and one newcomer, John Kehn.

BLACK HUMANITIES GET INVOLVED

Built upon the foundation of "helping students adjust to new situations", the Black Humanities Club performed these actions by means of getting involved in different social and community activities. With Mr. Bobby Cropper as the sponsor, the club participated in the Annual Thanksgining Drive, the Sickle-Cell Anemia Drive, and in Black History Week. They put on a program called "A Tribute to Black Music" for the school, and they gave a party for the underprivileged children at Christmastime. Members of the club attended the State Fair in Richmond and they also gave several dances for the student body throughout the year. These activities made the Menchville Black Humanities Club one of the school's largest and best clubs, helping to make our school number one.

FBLA gets down to business.

Through practical experience and competition on local, state, and national level, the Future Business Leaders of America learned by doing The Menchville chapter's business consisted of skating parties, state and national conventions, workshops, and typing name cards for the classroom doors, giving Thanksgiving baskets and selling trashbags for the March of Dimes. They also conducted a Hairy Legs contest to raise money for the March of Dimes. Votes were cast by putting pennies in the contestant's jars. The man with the hairiest legs was picked: Mr. Bobby Clark. The FBLAers learned business outside of the classroom.

The emblem of the FBLA is displayed along with balloons at tthe Homecoming Game. The charm of every office is reflected on the face of President Kathy Smith. Mr. Bobby Clark proudly reveals the hairiest legs in the FBLA hairy legs contest. Mrs. Leila Walker organizes the meeting agenda.

Earn While You Learn

"Earn while you learn" could be a motto for the Distributive Education Clubs of America. Interested students were provided with an introduction to work in fields of marketing and distribution. Attending school in the morning, they received a classroom education while an afternoon job provided them with work experience.

Show Bits

Participating in the Christmas Concert, Ann Cross sings a solemn hymn. Relieving Mrs. Webb, LaPearl Campbell shows another phase of her musical talent as an accompianist. At one of the year's largest choral presentations, Mrs. Hattie Webb accompanies A Cappella "Let it Be" takes on a different tone as Cathy Smoot solos.

Once again, A Cappella Choir brought special recognition to the school. Christmas time meant appearances at several churches and schools, along with a holiday presentation. In February, 28 students represented Menchville at Regional Choir. From there, 5 students were selected to participate in Virginia allstate choir in April. With the arrival of May, the annual choral presentation brought hundreds to the auditorium in the anticipation of the high quality singing. Thus, the choir wound up another successful year

MADRIGALS BECOME

Always in demand, were the Madrigals during the school year. Their appearances ranged from elementary schools to the Nation's Capital. Ten of the singers were chosen to go on a promotional tour for Busch Gardens during Christmas as Old Country Carolers. Their tour took them to Washington D.C., Maryland and several parts of Virginia. They appeared on 9 television talk shows in the process of the tour. The Madrigals also provided entertainment in the halls during the Fine Arts Festival with several spring selections. They wound up the year with the annual Spring Production involving the choruses.

OLD COUNTRY CAROLERS

GIRLS CHORUS SHINES

At fourth period every day, eager and enthusiastic girls pour into room 406 for girls' chorus. The girls sing songs that range from contemporary to classical. Their efforts were well recognized by their contributions in the Christmas and Spring productions.

Cindy Cowherd, Linda Hasnerl and Beth Rucker study the latest jazz songs. In concert, the girls chorus pour out their hearts in song.

BRAND NEW CLASS: MIXED CHORUS

Mixed Chorus was offered here at Menchville for the first time since the school opened. Students who wanted the opportunity to sing with a group for, perhaps, the first time signed up for this choir. Their contributions also added to the various choral presentations throughout the year.

In their new robes, the mixed chorus take part in the Christmas concert. "A Partridge in a Pear Tree" was one the songs sung at the Christmas concert by Kim Wheeler and the mixed chorus. Members of the mixed chorus learn contemporary pieces.

"Children's Theater" created by Drama Club

In "Hansel and Gretel" the wicked witch locks Hansel in a cage. The witch brags about her delicious gingerbread house. Drama Club member models a Chinese costume. At the end of the play, angels join Hansel and Gretel in a prayer.

"Children's Theater" was one of the biggest projects of the Drama Club this year. Along with the Thespians, they put on plays such as "The Stolen Prince" and "Hansel and Gretel." They performed these plays to area elementary school students as well as to deaf and blind children of the Virginia School. The club also made-up and filmed a soap opera and aided the Thespians in the fall production of "Butterflies are Free." Another projects was performing "The Gift of the Magi" at Christmastime.

In "The Stolen Prince," Joelle Louke smiles from behind her fan.

Dinner And A Show

How does a blind young man make it in New York City? "Butterflies are Free," the fall Thespian production at Menchville related a single day in the lives of Jill Tanner and Don Baker. The play was presented as part of a dinner theatre production in conjunction with the National Honor Society. The Thespians featured were Linda Atwood, as Jill Tanner, J. Allen Nichols, as Don Baker, Sonya Tucker and Debi Arnett double-cast as Mrs. Baker, and Floyd Green as Ralph Austin. The plot was drawn around a 19-year old divorcee and a blind young man trying to find his place in the middle of New York City, while at the same time, escape the claws of his overprotective mother. Jill's liberal manners and ideas attract Don, and within a day's time, he convinces himself he is in love with her, after conflicts with his mother are overcome.

During the last few moments of the play, Don and his mother are able to accept each other. Jill joins Don in "Butterflies are Free, and so are We", the theme song of the play.

Floyd Green, in his first appearance on Menchville's stage, delightfully portrays Ralph Austin, Jill's manager. The International Thespian Emblem glows at all Thespian productions.

With nervous anticipation, the majorettes wait for music to begin routine.

The Majorettes are: Jamie Jones, Captains Suzi Mayo and Beverly Carter, Cathy Norman, Jenny Roudabush, Lynne Rodgers, Barbara Layne, and Rochelle DeMatt.

DANCING/DAZZLING

Twirling their batons and kicking their legs high, the majorettes were an added attraction to many school activities. They spent exhausting hours after school making up routines; much more time was involved in practicing until perfection. Braving cold winds and freezing temperatures, they vigorously performed to band music during football halftimes. They faced continuous mass confusion in the preperation of pep assemblies. However, the majorettes always managed to come through with expert entertainment and smiling faces.

Todd Stadium provides a stage for a halftime performance. Rachelle DeMatt and Barbara Layne smile while waiting to perform at pep assembly. Majorettes display their sparkling uniforms while standing in a formation.

A little less than seventy-six trombones led the magnificent Menchville Band. Their marching ability as well as musical talents proved them to be one of the most outstanding bands in the city. Displaying their true Monarch spirit, they entertained football fans at pep assemblies and pre-game and half time shows. By winning the float decorating contest at Homecoming, they proved their talents to be more than just musical. In early January, the band presented a concert of traditional and contemporary selections. Students, faculty, and friends were entertained by a concert at the Festival of Arts. Menchville was finely represented at various workshops and events of competition. Long hours of practice paid off in the end as a number of band members were selected for Regional Band. Talent, dedication, and spirit are three qualities of each member of the Menchville Band, the number one band in the city.

Showing their talent, Martin Graham and Kerry Langston play jazz music with the Stage Band. Pounding out the beat of "Hello Dolly" is Howard Mixon. Performing at an assembly, the Stage Band masters their arrangement of "Hey Jude".

... the one that's NUMBER 1!

The Stage Band followed the Menchville tradition of excellence. It performed at various school activities and frequently gave concerts at other schools. They benefitted greatly from a workshop at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music and appeared at the Stage Band Festival. Directed by Mr. David Solomon, the Stage Band emerged as one more reason why Menchville is number one.

Game spectators are entertained at halftime by the Mighty Monarch Band.

The vibrating music of the band adds to excitement of a pep assembly.

Alive and real . . . and kicking . . . at Todd Field, the setting for Drill Team performances. Sponsors, Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Howard, in conjunction with captain Joanne Zimmerman, and co-captains, Jill Snyders and Deborah Cherry, co-ordinated all the routines and marches the squad presented. Traditional high-stepping routines prevailed at football and basketball halftime shows, providing entertainment for spectators, and a chance to demonstrate talent for the team members.

Original works of art, poetry, or prose submitted by creative students or ambitious teachers from class assignments were compiled and assembled to produce "The Scepter." The literary magazine gives prospective journalists a chance to publish thier works and discover the acceptance which the public gives them. The success and appreciation of the book was undoubtedly due to the long hours contributed by the staff and the pieces of creativity submitted by students.

Offered to all students this year, as in the past, was the opportunity to participate in the Debate and Forensics oratory exercises. The contest provided a student with competition in spelling, poetry, and prose reading, extemporaneous and prepared speaking. Several Menchville contestants came out winners in the district and proceeded to compete on regional and state levels.

A few of the entrants in Menchville's Forensics contest were: LaPearl Campbell, extemporaneous speech; Linda Atwood, Girl's poetry; Floyd Green, Boy's poetry; and Nancy Holladay, Girl's prose.

LOOK WHAT WE FOUND!

What did we find? An extra large group of people to help work on the yearbook. There were twenty people who had to catch on and catch on quickly from five harried seniors. Some did everything; some did nothing. We worked on new ideas. People learned how to type. People learned to improve their literary style. Deadlines were missed. Pictures and layouts were lost. People were yelled at. The staff went crazy. But eventually, out of all the worrying and frustration, we assembled a CROWN that was Number One, just like Menchville—so pass it on.

Pondering another brilliant idea, editor Tammy Bluhm frowns into space. Yearbooking moves into the halls when Activities Room 3 becomes too congested. Penny Abramson and Janet Thomas puzzle over students' names while identifying class pictures. Susan Garrison increases her typing speed. Trying to crop some pictures, Susan Seguin fumbles with a three-piece cropper.

Photographers' Corner

Adding to the frustration of the yearbook staff were the photographers. Deadlines were missed because of the lack of pictures. Slowly but surely, pictures trickled in one by one, as the harried staff tried to complete their layouts. Finally, on the last day, enough pictures were in to complete the CROWN. Somehow, all the pages fell into place and a great book was produced. On these pages are some of the best pictures of Will Young, Mark Woynicz, and John Kirtley.

Spellbinding phrases don't come that easily, Miss Ferrell's expression says, as Storm Topping awaits inspiration. The darkroom, a hideaway for all fugitive photographers. "But the deadline can t be tomorrow—today's been too much fun!"

FLASH

Media explodes into headlines, action is captured by pictures, and the business of the 2,000+ people who make Menchville a part of living is recorded monthly in "The Courier." Stories of the exciting, dull, fun, exuberant, free, captive, ambitious, creative, downtrodden, struggling students and staff somehow form into words and paragraphs to tell the MHS world what's going on in their midst. Editorials exposed complaints, criticisms, and a few praises to the prefabricated decisions of the administration. Survival through creating captions, cropping pictures, arranging interviews, meeting deadlines, and finally the peddling of papers, the Courier Stall kept Menchville informed.

From gymnastics to football, atheletes, like those anywhere, dedicated themselves to their sport. The long hours of practice and preparation made us strong opponents in any field to any school. The word was definitely around. All of Newport News, Hampton, and Williamsburg knew us. The people of Virginia were becoming acquainted with the excellence of MHS. We were no longer upstarts trying to displace the top teams; we were accepted and acknowledged as all-around top teams to be seriously dealt with. And ladies? Weren't they making as big a name for the school as the boys? Was it possible we would get the Julian Rice Trophy for Peninsula Sports Excellence again?

TOUGH BREAKS HAVOC TEAM

The game with Denbigh ended in an unexpected victory for the Patriots, who eased by the team for a final score of 14-13. There were many exciting plays in the final minutes of the game, as the team scrambled to reach scoring position. The disappointment of losing to Denbigh for the first time in four years was evident, but the Monarch spirit was still there

The Football banquet was a great success on January 8, 1975. Letters were given to deserving players and nine people got plaques for lettering more than one year. Seniors also gave their last will and testment. The Most Valuable Player Award was given to Steve Johnson for his outstanding efforts on offense and defense. He also received the Best Defensive Player of the year. Danny Arrington was awarded best Offensive player of the year and the most Deserving Award was given to Mike Phillips. The American Legion Post 25 also gave an award for the Best Senior and this was given to James Johnson.

Tabb quarterback, Greg Amaya, is sacked by Monarch defense. Menchville succeeded in winning this encounter, 14-6. Rushing for more yardage against Denbigh is tailback David Duff. The outcome of of the game was Menchville 13, Denbigh 14.

Concluding the season with a 5-4-1 record, the Monarchs found themselves in a fourth place tie with Ferguson. The team started off with decisive wins over Warwick and Tabb, followed by devastating losses to Lafayette and Bethel. They bounced back with three more triumphant victories over Kecoughtan, Pembroke, and York, but these marked the end of the Menchville victories.

The games following produced a 0-0 tie with Ferguson, and two heartbreaking losses to Hampton and Denbigh, leaving the Monarchs fourth in District Football.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOUR TIMES WINNERS OF DISTRICT

In the 90 degree heat of August, the junior varsity football team practiced every day. There were many sweating and aching bodies, but the result was another undefeated season for the baby monarchs. The spirit and hard work of the team held their opponents to 20 points while the monarchs racked up 228 points. With Kenny Perry and Jeff Topping sharing quarterbacking duties, the Menchville J.V.'s captured first place in the district.

HARRIERS HOLD WINNING STREAK

The Cross Country Team pulls through with an undefeated dual meet season capturing a perfect record of 6-0. As if their 6-0 record was not good enough, our boys went on to take the Peninsula District title for the third consecutive year, making our team the only one to accomplish this feat. In the district meet Phil Brown took third place; Lorenzo Anderson, fourth; Steve Nuttycomb, sixth; Joe Brown, seventh; with Billy Baker taking eighth.

Aching to get there, Steve "Bim" Nuttycombe determinedly strides toward the finish line. Tired runners await the announcement of the final team score at the District meet.

If you are driving down Menchville Road a little after 3:30 in the afternoon, you might catch a glimpse of several harriers making tracks. And all those tracks paid off. The team had many aches, pains and complaints but the cross country team still swung another first place in district, while capturing third in regional. Along with their regular season meets, our boys participated in the Portsmouth Invitational, capturing fifth place, the Blacksburg Invitational, taking third and the William and Mary Invitational taking sixth place. Outstanding Cross Country runner of the year was Lorenzo Anderson and another asset to the team was senior Steve Nuttycombe.

Being the District champs takes a lot or practice, time and effort and there is certainly not any lack of these on the cross country team. They practice day after day to get into tip-top condition and stay there. And as they say "Practice makes perfect" which held true as the harriers had a perfect score of 15-50 in their first three meets.

season lost, experience gained

Inexperience was the key work to the Girls' Field Hockey Team's winless season. Having to work with only five returning starters, Coach Mary Frances Vaughn drilled the young team in passing maneuvers and strategy. Mary Desmond broke the scoreless streak in the last game of the season with a tap-in goal against top ranked York. Although winless, the girls never lost the Monarch spirit and determination as proven in the 0-0 tie with Lafayette. Coach Vaughn cites halfback Denise Burroughs and goalie Diane Harwood as the team's most outstanding players.

THE WAY IT WENT . . .

Even though the Girls' Field Hockey team went winless this season, next year the team will have a much stronger and better offense. One problem the team had this year was a collapse down the lines of defensive and offensive plays, but this is destined to be changed in future practices. The backs did a very good job this year and they all worked as a team. This was a rebuilding and organizational year and next year promises to be better.

After the bully, the team charges. Denbigh won this encounter by a score of 2-0.

Inexperience was the Key factor in the girls' losing efforts. Coach Rose Robinson had no seniors to work with; sophomores and juniors composed a team of 12. The Girls' Basketball Team recorded its first losing season in its history with a record of 4 wins and 6 losses. This put the female cagers in 7th place in district standings. Their biggest victory came in the form of a 1-point win over second seeded Kecoughtan in the district tournament. Guard Susan Parsons was selected by the coaches for the all-tournament teams, a tribute to her record high 33 points in a tournament game.

FREQUENT PRACTICES RESULT IN AN IMPROVED TEAM

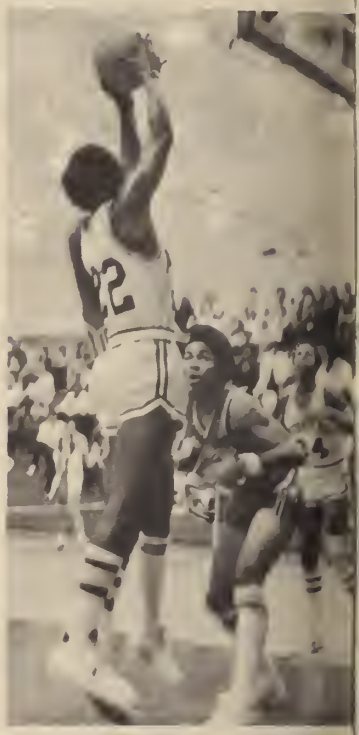
Offensive leaders James Leonard, Adrian Sutton, and James Johnson spearheaded the Monarchs winning season. Last quarter rallies characterized the 1974-75 basketball season. The Monarchs started off the year with decisive wins over Lafayette, Bethel, and Warwick opponents which had beaten them last year. Coach Mitchell and his players spent long hours planning strategy and practice schedules. This proved to be a necessity when everything worked out in the end with a better record than last year.

James Johnson shoots for two over Raider opponent. Menchville won this game against Warwick. Anticipating the descent of the ball is 6'4" Fred Gainley. High scoring James Leonard goes up for another 2 point play.

On the balls of his feet, Steve Cope awaits the rebound. Donnie Watkins and Fred Gainley go up for a rebound in Warwick match. Donnie Watkins shoots for 2 more points as Adrian Sutton and James Johnson look on.

THE BIGGER THEY WERE

Led by GayGay Watts the Monarchs proved that the bigger they are the harder they fall. Menchville won a decisive battle over Hampton, the district's top team. Menchville ran its offense smoothly and controlled the boards. The Monarchs pulled a shocker 49-48.



James Johnson shoots from the outside for two points against Crabber opponent. Hampton won this encounter by a close score of 56-54. Joe McMillan shoots from the foul line for two more Monarch points. This game was played at the Hampton Roads Coliseum with Menchville shocking Hampton 49-48. High-scoring Greg Watts goes up and over the outstretched hands of Crabber Arthur Jones. This game ended up in a major upset with the Monarchs winning 49-48.

Fighting an uphill battle is how the season went as losses became more and more frequent for the baby cagers. The junior varsity team came out ahead in two of their first four encounters, but lost their momentum as the season progressed. The driving force to win became evident in the middle of the season as the Monarchs won three in a row. The top scorers for the J.V. cagers were sophomores Robert Whitfield and Timmy Bethea. Robert Whitfield was moved up to the Varsity squad for the Hampton and York games at the Coliseum. The J.V. team was made up of many talented players who are looking forward to Varsity action next year.

Going up for a layup is Robert "Lurch" Whitfield. Hampton won this game 56-46. Joe Sershan tries for a free shot in the Hampton game.

CENTERS OF ATTENTION

Plagued by inexperience, but lifted by spirit and determination, the J.V. team made it through a very trying season. Two of the high scoring players were guard Timmy Bethea and center Robert Whitfield. The Monarch basketball players prepared themselves for future varsity play. Each game contributed to the team's progress which resulted in a highly competitive team among local schools.

we've got style!

Beginning their practices November first, the indoor track team worked hard to compensate for the loss of many seniors last year. Returning to the team this year were seniors, Edward Roberson, Steve Nuttycomee, Roosevelt Scott, Victor Conners; juniors, Lorenzo Anderson, Clifton Perry, Benson Hall, James McCollough, Charlie Cabiness, and Joe Ware. With so many juniors this year, the team looks forward to an excellent 75-76 season. The end of the 1975 Indoor Track season brought a rank of fourth in the District.

Joe Ware observes a pole vault. Practicing the broad jump after school is Wayne Clause. Charlie Cabaniss pole vaults successfully over the bar. The sound of the gun, triggered by Coach Lewis, begins a practice race.

Besides competing in the regular season meets within the district, the speedsters participated in several outside meets. In January they attended the 4th annual William and Mary Invitational, and the Navel Academy Invitational in Annapolis. The special meets for the month of February included the D.C. Invitational and the District and State Meets. Outstanding individuals for the Indoor Track Team included Benson Hall, Clifton Perry, James McCollough, Lorenzo Anderson, Joe Brown, Jim King, Wayne, Clause, Victor Connors, Joe Ware, Charles Cabiness, Steve Nuttycombe, and Edward Robinson.

Determindedly, David Rhodes struggles to pin his Falcon opponent. The outcome of the match was Menchville 46, York 9. Jakie Baer uses the chicken wing as a successful route to a pin. With Jakie's help the final score was Menchville 53, Warwick 23. Showing Monarch superiority, Bill Bennett works his opponent. Menchville amassed 46 points while Kecoughtan accumulated 6 points. It wasn't easy for Steve Johnson but he won the match giving the Monarchs a total of 47 points and the Warriors 6 points.

Strong will and total dedication along with an able coach are needed to produce a consistently victorious team. The Menchville grapplers have certainly proven this to be true. Long hours of practice and conditioning from Coach Paul Pcsolinski whipped the team into shape for the highly competitive Penninsula District. Although losing more than six seniors our matters showed their superiority early in the season by defeating three district teams and winning the Christmas Tournament. Five Monarchs were victorious at the Christmas Tournament. These were Jon Snyders, Randy Sarfan,

We didn't use Magic Words!

Jeff Wiseman, Yeung Lee, and Steve Johnson. The results of the Christmas Tournament seemed to most people to forecast the outcome of the District Tournament.

With his Warrior matman in a fix, Randy Sarfan takes advantage of his opponent. The outcome was Menchville 47, Kecoughtan 6. Jon Snyders takes it easy while observing fellow teammates' techniques. On his way to another pin, Jeff Wiseman uses the cradle. The Monarchs soundly defeated the Warriors 47 to 6.

Showing typical Monarch determination, Eric Webb demonstrates what it takes to be a state qualifier. "FINISH IT UP, BABE, YOU'VE GOT 3 SECONDS"

Menchville is at it once again. That is, "the try to beat Menchville Tourney" more formally known as the Penninsula District Wrestling Tournament. Putting eight wrestlers in the finals, the Monarchs came one point shy of their last year's record of 135 points. With this, Menchville proudly sent eleven out of twelve grapplers to the Eastern Regional Tournament. In Regionals Menchville was not as victorious as in Districts. Out of eleven only four placed. Jeff Wiseman and Richard Griffin were runners-up while Eric Webb and Steve Johnson both captured thirds. The Penninsula District sent it's largest delegate ever to the 1975 State Meet. Of the twelve representing the District, there were four Monarchs. The only person to place was senior Jeff Wiseman who was aclaimed the fourth place champion in the 119 pound weight class.

The magic is precise organization

Practicing along with the varsity, the J.V. matters learned many valuable techniques. Some of these were put to use at the Christmas Tournament when Petersburg's team failed to show and open spots were filled by our J.V. boys. Although they did not receive as much support as the varsity team, a successful season was inevitable. Proving this to be true, the baby Monarchs have remained undefeated for four years in regular district action.

John Malonson stacks his Kecoughtan opponent. Menchville overpowered Kecoughtan 40-0. Wrestling is not as easy as it looks as Keith Ogburn and his Kecoughtan adversary get entangled together. The outcome of this match was Menchville 40, Kecoughtan 6. Josh Wood puts a half-nelson on his helpless opponent. The Monarchs wrestled their way to a 40-6 victory over the Warriors.

In the Kecoughtan match, Robert Pfeiffer uses his head against his combatant. A reverse-half proves to be the route to victory for Eddie Guy. Doggedly, Gary Webb tries to pin his opponent by using a figure-four. Menchville walloped Kecoughtan, 40-6.

ALL IT TAKES IS A LITTLE COORDINATION AND A LITTLE SKILL

Precision, skill, and balance is what it takes to be an expert gymnast and the Menchville gymnastic team has it all. The girls practiced hard and long to meet the stiff competition of the other district schools. The practices turned out to be worth all the work the girls put into them. The gymnastic season was successful for the Monarchs. Early in the season Linda Atwood broke her foot in a meet and remained out the rest of the season. Even with the loss of a teammate, the girls continued with their winning ways.

Lynne Sheek prepares to dismount after finishing her exercise. In the middle of her routine, Becky Hinty pauses for a moment.

Beginning their practices in June, the Varsity Cheerleaders gave much of their time to promoting school spirit. The squad consisted of fifteen girls, three more than in previous years. They often attended as many as three different activities a week, which required timeless effort and dedication. Many money raising projects were planned and executed during the year. Beginning with selling candles in the summer months, and later having endless bake sales, the girls raised money to cover all their expenses. To help the teams get ready for big games, the cheerleaders gave out candy to the players and also participated in many school functions, including pep assemblies.

THE VARSITY TOUCH

The Varsity Cheerleaders enjoyed themselves while cheering the Mighty Monarch Teams through successful seasons. Besides attending the regular events, they also went to extra activities, such as the Cross Country Invitational at William and Mary. The cheerleaders also attended a Cheering Clinic in Norfolk sponsored by the National Cheerleading Association. There they recieved many ideas for leading the crowds in cheers at sports activities and representing their school.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Few people realize the amount of work that goes into a yearbook. They have never been forced to identify a sea of nameless faces, design a page that does not look exactly like the model lay-out in the guidebook, or write a summary of a club's non-existent activities. Completely oblivious of this underground rat race, they give no thought to the yearbook. They are not even aware of its existence, partial or otherwise, until it is placed in their hands at the end of the year—usually late.

Its delayed arrival is due to one thing: uncoopertive attitudes. Seniors would not show up on time for their portraits, if they showed up at all. When they realized they had missed both the regularly scheduled sittings and the make-up sittings, they requested more make-ups. Sponsors and teachers requested nice pages, nice pictures, and nice write-ups, but they were unwilling to nicely give five minutes of their time to the annual staff. Then there were those free spirits who took annual staff as another play period; these people were a great hindrance to the progress of the book.

On the other side, some really worked to produce this yearbook. As far as yearbooking was concerned, there was no Senior slump. They donated their time, money, and cars to meet deadlines. Staying after school, often until dark, meant seeing the janitors finish their work and go home, and meant meeting people in the parking lot who were arriving for a basketball game. They also traveled to downtown Newport News and across the river to Norfolk for supplies, supplies sometimes paid for out of annual staffers' pockets. There were people who had no class sixth period, so they came up to annual staff just to help—and really did. No one receives any scholastic credit for this publication; nor was the sponsor paid. But we amateurs produced a professional publication and we are proud of it. We thank you for your support, assistance, and enlightened appreciation.

WATERGATE

By John Meckley and Charles Traylor

"Let this message come through clear from what I say tonight . . . Time is running out for the merchants of crime and corruption . . . The wave of crime is not going to be the wave of the future in the United States." Four years later, the arrest of seven men led to investigation and resignation of some of the most powerful men in the world

"If we are to restore prestige and respect for America abroad, the place to begin is at home, in the United States of America." The two previous quotes were made by Richard Nixon during his presidential campaign of 1968. While a vigorous cry for "Law and Order" was the main theme of the campaign, Nixon also promised "peace with honor" in Southeast Asia and an extension of "the hand of friendship . . . to all people of the world." Running his campaign on these issues, Nixon won the election. He then proceeded to withdraw American troops from Vietnam and to establish detente with the People's Republic of China and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics; however, the Watergate break-in of 1972 seemed to expose the true "Law and Order" policy of the Nixon Administration.

At two A.M. on the morning of June 17, 1972, five men with cameras, wiretap equipment, and six thousand dollars in cash, were arrested on the sixth floor of the Watergate apartment-office complex, in the Democratic National Committee Headquarters in Washington, D.C. One of those arrested was James W. McCord Jr., a veteran C.I.A. agent and Chief of Security for the Committee to Re-elect the President. Also arrested in connection with the break-in were E. Howard Hunt, a former C.I.A. agent working as a White House consultant; and G. Gordon Liddy, a former F.B.I. man serving as counsel for the CRP. Although the CRP was implicated in the break-in, President Nixon publicly dismissed the whole matter as a "third-rate burglary" and was subsequently re-elected in November by the largest plurality in American history.

In January 1973, the "Watergate Seven" were convicted of second-degree burglary, eavesdropping, and conspiracy in the U.S. District Court of Washington, D.C., Judge John J. Sirica presiding. A few months later, in March, McCord informed Judge Sirica that the defendents had been pressured by the White House to perjure themselves so that the full story of the break-in would not emerge. Specifically implicated by McCord were: Counsel to the President, John W. Dean III; former Attorney General, John N. Mitchell; and Deputy Campaign Director, Jeb Stuart Magruder.

In response to these accusations, President Nixon announced that Dean had conducted an investigation and had found no White House involvement in the break-in. However, after it became apparent that a special Watergate grand jury was about to indict members of Nixon's personal staff, Nixon announced that he had conducted his own investigation and had uncovered what he termed "major developments." Then on April 30, in a televised address to the nation, Nixon accepted the resignations of his top advisers, John D. Erlichman, H.R. Haldeman, and Attorney General Richard D. Kleindienst-while firing John Dean.

On May 18, the new Attorney General, Elliot L. Richardson, selected Archibald Cox to be special prosecutor in charge of the Watergate Investigation. President Nixon gave Richardson "absolute authority to make all decisions bearing upon the prosecution of the Watergate case and related matters" and promised Cox "total cooperation."

During the months of June and July, via testimony to the Senate Watergate Committee, implications of White House involvement in a cover-up stemming from the June 17th break-in began to arise. John Dean, testifying under a grant of immunity from prosecution, said that President Nixon knew of efforts to keep White House officials from being indicted by the grand jury as early as September, 1972. Dean also said he was present while Nixon discussed "hush-money" and executive clemency for the seven Watergate break-in defendents in March and April of 1973.

He went on to tell about a general White House policy of using "the available federal machinery to screw our political enemies." Another witness, John Mitchell, told the committee that he had aided the cover-up fearing that a full exposure of the break-in and other "White House horrors" might have endangered President Nixon's re-election. These other horrors included a "plumbers" unit to stop news leaks and a series of "dirty tricks" used by the CRP in the 1972 presidential campaign. However, Mitchell claimed that President Nixon knew nothing about the Watergate break-in or cover-up and instead implicated Haldeman and Erlichman. In their testimony to the committee, both Erlichman and Haldeman denied that they or Nixon had taken part in the cover-up and were careful to show that they completely disagreed with Dean's testimony. All this conflicting testimony produced no conclusive evidence as to the extent of White House involvement in the cover-up. Each man that testified seemed mainly to be protecting himself.

On July 16, 1973, a startling new development arose out of the Senate hearings. Alexander Butterfield, a former White House aide, told the committee that President Nixon had taped all of his conversations in the Oval Office and Executive Building Office. Immediately the Senate Committee and Special Prosecutor Cox asked Nixon for the tapes of several key conversations, but Nixon refused citing Executive Privilege. Cox then issued a subpoena for nine tapes to be given to the Watergate grand jury. Nixon opposed the ruling in court, but on August 29, Judge Sirica ruled against him. This decision was upheld by an appellate court on October 12. At this point, Nixon could have either given up the tapes or appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, but he chose a different course. On October 19, he asked Cox to set up a system whereby Senator John Stennis (D., Miss.) would verify the authenticity of a White House summary of the tapes which would then be given to the grand jury instead of the tapes. Nixon also demanded that Cox cease his efforts to subpoena material from the White House, but Cox refused.

On October 20, in what became known as the "Saturday night massacre", Nixon told Attorney General Richardson to fire Cox. Since Nixon had promised Cox "total cooperation", Richardson refused and immediately resigned. The Deputy Attorney General, William D. Ruckelshaus, also refused to fire Cox and resigned. President Nixon then named Solicitor General Robert H. Bork acting Attorney General, and Archibald Cox was finally fired.

After this fiasco, the President's popularity, which had been dropping since March, plunged to 27%. Adding to the drop in approval by the American people were the resignation of Agnew and the continuing controversy about the White House tapes.

On October 10, Agnew had resigned just before going to U.S. District Court in Baltimore to plead "no contest" to a charge of federal income tax evasion. Two days later, under the procedure designated by the twenty-fifth amendment to the U.S. Constitution, Nixon nominated Gerald R. Ford, who "if nothing else, was the man for that season; he was clean, dependable . . ." as Vice-President.

On October 23, Nixon had turned over the tapes to the special prosecutor; however, he claimed that two of the conversations asked for had never been taped. In one of the tapes he did give up, there was an eighteen minute gap. During an investigation by experts, that section was found to have been erased and re-recorded at least nine different times. The tape situation along with the "Saturday night massacre" did little to help Richard Nixon in Congress, and on December 20, the House Judiciary Committee appointed John M. Doar, a former Assistant Attorney General, to prepare evidence of impeachable offenses committed by the President.

The Judiciary Committee, in its search for the truth, found it necessary to subpoena many more tapes and documents from the President. Nixon also resisted these subpoenas, and instead, made public a set of transcripts that he insisted would prove his innocence. However, the nation was shocked by the "locker room" language used by the President and the evidence of his early role in the cover-up.

On July 24, 1974, the Supreme Court in an eight-to-zero decision ruled that the President must turn over all the tapes to the House Judiciary Committee. Action came swiftly as the committee voted three articles of impeachment—one for obstruction of justice, one for abuse of power, and one for defying subpoenas. The tide had completely turned.

On August 5, Nixon admitted having a partial but unknowing part in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in; however, this was taken by many as a confession and Nixon lost all his remaining support in the Congress. Three days later, Nixon announced to the nation that he would resign the next morning.

On August 9, 1974, Gerald R. Ford became the first man to attain the Presidency without being elected.

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE ECONOMY

By Charles Traylor and John Meckley

Well now, wasn't the ending of that last article touching? Just picture it—a clean-cut, all-American kid who grew up playing football becoming President of the United States of America! And to top all that stuff, some leak dripped out the news that Gerald Ford had only been humbly aspiring for the post of Speaker of the House (the authors never did see what was so humble about the aspiration to the speakership.). Anyway, we need to get back to the original topics—our "honeymoon" (with the President of the United States), our (and everybody else's, excepting OPEC, of course) energy crisis, our inflation (which, we are told, is less than everybody else's), and our recession (or, if one's a pessimist, pending depression).

President Ford had, indeed, played football, and we're told the pros even scouted him; however, one should remember that way back then professional football didn't attract coliseums full of roaring spectators and that the players didn't earn much money. Although one's ability to play football has little bearing on one's capacity to be president, it was obvious to Ford's Public Relations staff that playing up the athletic bit would increase Ford's popularity. This "all-American image", coupled with the sense of relief resulting from Nixon's resignation, produced an artificial high for John Q. Citizen. But, when President Ford pardoned Nixon, things changed—the "honeymoon" was over. Congress was crammed full of Democrats, many of whom wanted Nixon's blood. Then, the stark reality of a drowning U.S. economy surfaced to remind John Q. Citizen that mom's apple pie was twice as expensive and half as large.

Heretofore, this article has not told the sad tale of why the economy was drowning. Well, many people blame the whole thing on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (the organizers of this group did, however, forget one important exporting country—the United States, and why we didn't join up is a mystery—just think about all that extra cash!); however, the truth is that we set ourselves up for the mess: that is, we rowed the boat out into the sea, stood on the plank and OPEC merely pushed; whereupon, John Q. Citizen splashed into the water! One might ask (one probably wouldn't, but it's the only way the authors could think of adding the following information), why did we row out there in the first place? Well, the United States has in past years gotten everything that it wanted, excepting respect, from smaller nations, so when fighting broke out in the Middle East, we naturally assumed that we could help Israel fight the Arabs while, on the business side, we were shipping out all the natural resources of the Arabic nations. Of course, there was some justification to this thought: we had done it in the past. However, this time the Arabs used an old American trick; namely, they told us that they would no longer bear our intolerable actions; they then cut our oil supply by drastically increasing its cost which, in turn, reduced our supply of plastics, fertilizers . . .

Yes, America, it was a dumb mistake. Just after our brilliant scientists discovered high-yield farming (farming that uses a special seed and lots of fertilizer to produce lots of grain), we had to go and stir up all sorts of trouble. And to top it all off, big-time bureaucrats sold shipfuls of wheat to the U.S.S.R. All this, of course, left a smaller and at the same time more expensive apple pie . . . and car tires and sugar and all durable and nondurable goods shot up in price.

Again, we've been sidetracked into all sorts of obscure things, but fear not, the authors are back to the dragon of inflation and our white (please forgive the archaic expression; its seemingly prejudicial connotations are unintentional) knight, Gerald Ford. With sugar up 274.5%, gasoline up 20.6%, beer up 15.5%, and the average consumer price up 12.2%, Americans needed large wage increases; however, the average worker received only an increase of 7%. Translation: the public needed help. They looked to President Ford for this help. And President Ford looked to "economic wizards" of every stripe in a "war against inflation". (The Authors would like to point out that Ford has tried to make an intelligent use of history—F.D. Roosevelt used a "brain trust" that counseled him in his battle to bring the United States out of Great Depression.) It was after a "summit" meeting with these advisers in Vale, Colorado, that President Ford announced his plan to save the economy. The plan includes an oil imports' tax, federal income tax rebates, and more federal spending to increase jobs and combat the recession. However, the Democratically controlled Congress wants to tax gasoline at the pumps, to cut taxes, and to decrease federal spending. As anyone can see, our white knight must first battle an unwilling Congress before he can even mount his steed to chase the dragon.

Meanwhile, John Q. Citizen has started a garden in his back yard; he hopes to become self-sufficient before next spring, for he figures that it will take until November '76 to finish the fight between Ford and Congress.

All this is to show the reader what is happening to our economy (and what to do about it.) For in all earnestness, not much is being done to get us out of this fix. As the authors of this work, we feel that we have an obligation to tell the readers the truth—the economy is pretty sick and it seems that our President hasn't come up with anything miraculous to cure it. For that matter, the authors haven't come up with a stroke of brilliance either. Yes, America, your economy is failing, but remember that other countries' economies are far sicker. Neither Ford, nor the authors, nor probably the reader, has an answer to the problem of how to make mom's apple pie twice as big and half as expensive.

ALAN GREENSPAN

By Meckley and Traylor

Alan Greenspan is President Ford's Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers (CEA). Greenspan, 48, left a three hundred thousand dollar salary, as head of a Manhattan consulting firm, to take the job. A staunch super capitalist with a knack for predicting turns in the nation's economy, he has in the past criticized the government for "excessive borrowing in the capital markets, spending too much on budget-busting subsidy programs, and reliance in short-term solutions to economic problems." He is opposed to wage and price controls because they "may temporarily suppress the general price level, but they do not reduce the inflation psychology. Ultimately, the prices will break out and rise to a higher level." In his opinion business should also be left alone as far as anti-trust matters are concerned. On taxes, Mr. Greenspan favors "a vast cutting through" of tax loopholes, but opposes an increased tax on the rich and corporations. In theory, he would like to see a flat tax on all incomes but does not see it coming soon. He is also against tax cuts or tax increases. Tax cuts would encourage more spending by the people, and tax increases would allow more federal spending. He feels both are inflationary. How long will it take to bring inflation under control? "A year, possibly two," says Greenspan. Therefore, the American public may have to suffer the effects of a sagging economy and high unemployment until the economy stabilizes.

On the preceding four pages, as well as on this one, there have been a number of photos and photo strips. Using the covers of prominent newsmagazines, we have attempted to trace the change in public interest from Nixon and Watergate to Ford and the Economy during the past year. The reader will also notice several newspaper front pages from French—and English—language Paris papers.

THE MUSIC SCENE

By Eric Thiessen

This year marked the acceptance of more diverse forms of music than ever before. Heavy metal, ballads, semi-classical, soul, jazz and synthesized music all combined on radio playlists this year. However, due to a restricted economy, record companies cut back on the number of new releases, and stuck with "proven talent." The economy also restricted the number of concerts given, with bands not being able to make enough outside major metropolitan areas to pay touring costs. This situation led to more and more multi-group concerts with two or three name bands playing at one time, increasing ticket sales.

Several big names not expected to tour anytime soon hit the road this year. Eric Clapton made his comeback from heroin addiction and from a three and a half year layoff. George Harrison became the first Beatle to tour here since the Fab Four themselves played here in the middle '60s. Bob Dylan emerged from his self-imposed hibernation long enough to get in some 30 concerts with The Band. Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young forgot the animosity that broke them up in 1970 and embarked on the major tour of the summer. California Jam brought more big groups together at one time than anything did since Woodstock—all at the request of ABC, who filmed the whole thing for their In Concert series. Rick Wakeman quit the highly-successful YES to embark on a solo tour, complete with full orchestra and choir. All of this very nice, of course, if you were one of the lucky few that could get tickets.

Despite financial conditions, several new bands did get through. The Souther*Hillman* Furay Band was a culmination of Poco and the Byrds, and Bad Company was an extension of Free and Mott the Hoople. Totally new groups were inevitably foreign, finally getting here after success in their home countries. Among these were Golden Earring, and PFM. Mike Oldfield appeared from almost nowhere with his critically acclaimed TUBULAR BELLS, which ended up as the theme of the EXORCIST. The only American faces of any importance to be revealed for the first time this year were Kansas, comprised of virtuoso musicians from that state.

Several name bands disintegrated. Alice Cooper hung it up as a band, the man himself continuing solo. The Allman Brothers have quietly dissolved into solo efforts by Dicky Betts and Gregg Allman. King Crimson fell apart at Robert Fripp's wishes; he was tired of the "experiment." Key personnel quit too, notably Mick Taylor of the Stones, Mick Ralphs and Ariel Bender of Mott and Wakeman of Yes.

On record, the perennial money makers such as Elton John, Chicago, John Denver, The Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin and Jethro Tull all continued with their proven success formula that made them so popular in the first place. It was the few acts who dared to experiment that freshened up the scene, however. Combining several different music forms on one LP, even on one song, marked much of this experimentation, aided by the almost de rigeur synthesizer. The ever increasing complexity of instruments and recording techniques were becoming used on the concert stage. Bigger and more powerful PA systems, some even in quadrophonic, gave concerts better sound than most people's home stereo units.

In concert, three bands who were not expected to ever play here: Emerson, Lake & Palmer; Eric Clapton; and Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young. The latter was the largest concert ever held in Virginia, staged at Foreman Field. Jethro Tull put in their fourth appearance in five years, and Jefferson Starship (Airplane) returned, combining with Kansas for one of the year's best concerts. Sly and Stevie Wonder both returned with their own special brands of funk, and Earth Wind & Fire put in their first appearance ever. All in all, not a bad year, considering the numerous cancellations that plagued both concert-goers and promoters.

IN CONCERT: Emerson, Lake & Palmer; Eric Clapton; J. Geils Band; Aerosmith; Little Feat; Joe Cocker; Earth, Wind & Fire; Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young; Elvin Bishop; Sly Stone; Stevie Wonder; Jefferson Starship; Kansas; Bachman-Turner Overdrive; Marshall Tucker Band; Poco; Robin Trower; Eagles; The Beach Boys; Mahavishnu Orchestra; Jethro Tull; BT Express; Grand Funk.

ON RECORD: 461 OCEAN BLVD., Eric Clapton; Grammy winner FULFILLINGNESS' FIRST FINALE, Stevie Wonder; BEFORE THE FLOOD, Bob Dylan with the Band; BAD COMPANY; COURT & SPARK, Joni Mitchell; GOODBYE YELLOW BRICK ROAD and CARIBOU, Elton John; JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH, Rick Wakeman; BAND ON THE RUN, Paul McCartney; WAR CHILD, Jethro Tull; DARK HORSE, George Harrison; BRIDGE OF SIGHS, Robin Trower, CHICAGO VII; UNBORN CHILD, Seals & Croft; HEADHUNTERS, Herbie Hancock; OPEN OUR EYES, Earth, Wind & Fire; WELCOME BACK MY FRIENDS, Emerson, Lake & Palmer; PHYSICAL GRAFFITI, Led Zeppelin.

THE YEAR OF THE DISASTER

As if we weren't already experiencing sufficient hardships in our daily lives, the movie companies flooded the market this past year with disaster flicks, most of which won instant favor at the box office and provided the cinema producers with a rich new gold mine of film types to exploit. What were the biggies of this genre?

EARTHQUAKE

Well, who could forget being rocked and rolled in a seat as Los Angeles bit the dust in EARTHQUAKE? Equipped with special devices to simulate the rumbling of an actual earthquake, many local theatres had turn-away business with this one. Starring were Charlton Heston, Ava Gardner, Richard Roundtree and George Kennedy, among others.

TOWERING INFERNO

Perhaps, we might remember with more warmth THE TOWERING INFERNO. This film didn't cause the theatre to rock but it did provide absolutely spectacular footage of the destruction by fire of the world's tallest building in San Francisco. INFERNO was received by the critics more warmly than EARTHQUAKE. Included in the all-star cast were Steve McQueen, Paul Newman, William Holden, Faye Dunaway and Fred Astaire, who received an Academy Award nomination for his performance.

YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN

If disaster wasn't your cup of tea, side-splitting humor may have been the thing; if so, the past year provided a bumper crop. Probably the most succesful was YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN; the crazy Mel Brooks ran amok in the Baron's castle. Also turning in fantastic performances were Gene Wilder, Marty Feldman and Madeline Kahn.

GODFATHER, PART II

Who could have believed that the enormous success of THE GODFATHER could have been ever equalled? Amazingly, director Francis Ford Coppola put together, what the critics have called, a sequel better than the original. THE GODFATHER, PART II featured Al Pacino and Robert DeNiro, as the two godfathers.

Of course, the range of film fare was wide enough to suit all—from the blood and guts of Andy Warhol's DRACULA and THE TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE, to the fleshy FLESH GORDON, to the warm and tender HARRY AND TONTO.

MHS SPORTS, 1974-75

By Eric Thiessen

District Championships were captured by Menchville teams this year. The Junior Varsity Football team went undefeated, soundly thrashing the majority of their opponents. The Cross Country squad also took District honors, by defeating arch-rival Ferguson to win the crown. Finally, the superb Wrestling teams of the past three seasons repeated their successes, both varsity and junior varsity squads going undefeated in winning their fourth consecutive District titles. Winning seasons were also enjoyed by the varsity football and basketball teams, the Girls' Gymnastics squad, and the Indoor Track team.

Enthusiasm played a big part, as well as did talent, because most of the teams representing the Monarchs this year were either inexperienced at the start of the season or rebuilding. This was offset by some very talented performers who placed high in the individual standings of their particular sport. Taking District honors were: in Wrestling, Randy Sarfan, Jeff Wiseman, Eric Webb and Richard Griffin; in Football, David Duff was named to the first team offense of the All-District Team; in Cross Country, the whole team finished in the top sixteen, leaving them with a record of twenty-eight points in the meet, Phil Brown taking 3rd place, Lorenzo Anderson, 4th, Steve Nuttycombe 6th, Joe Brown 7th, Billy Baker 8th, Ronnie Tickle 14th, and Jimmy King 16th; in Gymnastics, Stelle Washburn placed 5th in District in Vaulting, Nancy Zimmerman took 3rd all around and 4th on the beam, and Rachel Alderfer was 4th on the bar and 5th in vaulting.

All Regional honors went to Lorenzo Anderson, Phil Brown and Steve Nuttycombe in Cross Country. In Wrestling, Eric Webb and Steve Johnson were 3rd in the Region in their respective classes, while Richard Griffin and Jeff Wiseman finished 2nd. Wiseman also took 4th in the State at 119 pounds. Other State ranked persormers were: Clifton Perry, with his State record 1.11.9 600 yard dash, which was the second fastest high school time in the nation at that distance; and the mile relay team of Ricky Nelson, Lorenzo Anderson, James McCulloch and Clifton Perry, which placed first in the State, breaking the old record of 3.28.6 by four seconds.

It is the marks set by these athletes, plus the efforts by the teams themselves, that measure the position held by Menchville in athletics this past year.

SENIOR REMEMBRANCES

To accomplish great things, we must no only act,
but also dream, not only plan,
but also believe.

Anatole France

TIME IN A BOTTLE
By Jim Croce

If I could save Time in a bottle,
The first thing that I'd like to do
Is to save every day
'Til eternity passes away
Just to spend them with you.

If I would make days last forever,
If words could make wishes come true,
I'd save every day like a treasure and then,
Again, I would spend them with you.

But there never seems to be enough time
To do the things you want to do
Once you find them.
I've looked around enough to know
That you're the one I want to go Through time with.

If I had a box just for wishes
And dreams that had never come true,
The box would be empty
Except for the memory
Of how they were answered by you.

FLASHBACKS '74-'75

What events of the past year will remain with us as we grow away from the school year 1974-75? Well, as a starter, for the first time in the history of our land, a president resigned and did so under threat of impeachment and in what seemed total disgrace. And he was succeeded in the Oval Office by a man whom he had appointed to complete the unexpired term of a vice-president who had himself resigned earlier in disgrace. Then, of course, the new president had to appoint a vice-president, giving control of the Executive branch of our government entirely into the hands of appointed, not popularly elected, officials.

The once-popular daily Senate Watergate TV spectacular had been replaced by a House group and we watched the televised House Judiciary Committee meetings under the able leadership of Rep. Peter Rodino. Thus we became familiar with a new cast of characters in what appeared to be the continuing saga of Richard Nixon. As his public and political support eroded, Nixon became more defensive, more determined to stick it out; he drew his wagons into a circle and waited for the arrival of the cavalry. Yet, he did give in, and we watched his resignation speech and last minutes in the White House on the "groove tube". Mr. Ford swept into power and there was a general feeling of relief that the Watergate episode was over.

But there was to be more, with Ford's pardon of Nixon, with the trials of Mitchell, Haldeman and Erlichmann, ultimately convicted and sentenced by Judge John Sirica, the now folk-hero of the anti-Watergate set.

What else was happening in the nation? Well, the smoke of Watergate cleared enough for us to realize that we were having an inflation . . . or was it a recession . . . perhaps a depression . . . stagflation. No one appeared to know exactly what was happening economically; therefore, there was no consensus as to the best method of curing the problem (s). No way to WIN.

Meanwhile, prices went up, hundreds of thousands were laid off jobs, unemployment skyrocketed, businesses failed as never before, utilities requested higher rates, Dr. Kissinger continued flying around the world trying to patch up international quarrels before they became wars, rebates were offered to car buyers, and gold was offered for sale to Americans. Through it all, we plunged and sometimes plodded forward toward the celebration of a revolutionary fight for independence, which continues to this day. And perhaps, even more importantly, we moved even closer to the end of the twentieth century and to the beginning of the twenty-first in the year 2001.

People

The secret has been out for years. It has been passed on and on until everyone has known. It has been one of those things that could not be silenced. Some have tried to ignore the fact; others have displayed signs of jealousy; many have joined the growing numbers of those who admit, "Menchville People are the best."

Menchville People are singers, actors, musicians, swimmers, surfers, seamstresses, jocks, dancers, skaters, dudes, lovers, thinkers, riders, cooks, talkers, home-makers, and money-earners.

Menchville People are leaders, followers, boozers, straights, writers, readers, laughers, criers, teachers, learners, watchers, lookers, Oscars and Felixes.

Fashions of the Thirties are modeled by David Lindley, Teri Seay, Kim Butler, and Cindy Cowherd. The winner of the 30's costume contest is mankiller Juanita Hatfield. WGH disc jockey coaxes his donkey closer. Senior class president, Kevin Newman, becomes a sap running through the SCA officer trees in an assembly. Sophomores Debbie Whitehead and Dale Coberly gorge on banana splits.

SCA GOES OLD, GOES COUNTRY GOES BANANAS!

As tension and pressures from the daily grind in classes mounted, the SCA produced activities to encourage students to relax during the less tense moments. September brought a Thirties Day in which prizes were offered to those students most lavishly dressed. Later in October, a banana split-eating contest with flying banana peels and ice cream cartons provided a hectic scene in the Boy's Gym. On November 18th the Boy's Gym set the stage for laughter and entertainment as students and faculty competed against each other at the SCA sponsored Donkey Basketball game. In December, students were given the opportunity to display their spirit and generosity by giving to the Toys for Tots drive.

Homecoming Highlights Fall

Cries of greetings, shouts of excitement, and tears of renewed friendships are part of any Homecoming. The Kecoughtan game on October 12th was the chosen date for Homecoming. Next, the members of the court were nominated and voted on. From the Sophomore class, two representatives were chosen: Becky Hinte and Kim Eberhardt. The three Junior representatives were Leslie Redfern, Ann Cross and Frances Brushwood. The Senior class elected Sheila Britt, Kim Lockett, Beverly Carter, and Cynthia Richardson. Each of these four girls then wrote an essay to determine who would be queen. The evening of October 12 was a big night for the returning alumni, spectators, and especially the Homecoming Court. At halftime, Cindy Richardson was announced as the 1974 Homecoming Queen. Immediately following the game, a Victory Dance provided additional chances to visit with old friends and to congratulate the Court and the new Queen. On November 30, a semi-formal Homecoming Dance marked the last of the festivities.

Seriously awaiting the final decision are Sheila Britt, escort Keith Stith, Beverly Carter, and escort Angelo Carr. Football sweetheart, Darlyne Hagerty, receives her corsage. Frances Brushwood and David Saunders turn their attentions toward the crowning. Semi-formal dance provides an evening of festivity. A moment of excitement is captured on the faces of Cindy Richardson and escort Joey Ritchie immediately after the crowning.

Grads Return In December

Alumni Day in December created a cheerful and reminiscing attitude for students, faculty, and returning alumni. The alumni were ushered about the school by class and SCA officers and were the guests of honor at a reception held the same day in the cafeteria. A victory dance in honor of the alumni was held on October 12th following the Homecoming game.

Richard Clemence, Paul Wygal, and other alumni enjoy themselves at the victory dance. After the dance, hungry alumni grab for pizza. "Old folks" sip punch at the Alumni Day reception.

the RINGLEADERS

The spirit of the school can be said to originate in the ideas and propositions of the class officers. Many events showed the competition and spirit between the classes of '75, '76, and '77. A hall decorating contest was challenged to the junior and senior classes by the sophomores during the spirit build-up week before Menchville's last football game of the year. The winner of the contest was the sophomore class.

Crepe paper and balloons show the senior class' spirit.

The 1974-75 junior class officers are: Bret Wright, reporter; Randy Sarfan, treasurer; Vickie Appleby, secretary; Steve Cope, vice-president; and Steve Parker, president. The 1974-75 senior class officers are: Liz Benson, treasurer; Kevin Newman, president; Linda Atwood, vice-president; Debi Arnett, secretary; and Patty Johnson, reporter. The 1974-75 sophomore class officers are: Charlotte McDaniels, treasurer; Floyd Green, vice-president; Judy Weinstein, president; Patti Slye, secretary; and Dani Call, chaplain.

Mrs. Lettie J. Booker, who heads the Home Economics Department, has been teaching for nine years. She was graduated from Virginia State where she recieved her B.S. In addition to the large number of students she works with, Mrs. Booker has given of her time and efforts to help others in the school. Her assistance on the costuming during "My Fair Lady" is one example of her beautiful work and willingness to help.

Mr. Kenneth Bowen, the head of the Art Department, sponsors the Art Club in addition to teaching various art classes. He received his B.A. in Fine Arts from Lynchburg College, School of Visual Arts in New York City. He has been teaching for ten years. The talented Mr. Bowen has been extremely helpful with the scenery for Drama and Choral presentations. His contributions have added to the success of the shows.

This year for the first time Mr. Dick Carter acted as the Activities Director while holding his usual position in the Social Studies Department. He attended East Carolina University where he received his B.A. He has been teaching for seven years.

"Menchville is a No. 1 school for several different reasons. First, we have an outstanding administration. No other school has a principal and a group of assistants as dedicated and as capable as ours. Second, we have a select group of master teachers, whose teaching performance and student relations provide the inspirations for others to follow. Third, the student body at Menchville is made up of a majority of well disciplined and intelligent young men and women. Without these young people, the first two comments would never be possible to make."

Mr. Carter's spirit and support for Menchville is recognized by the students as well as the faculty.

Mr. John M. Caywood's is a familiar face around Menchville. Doing his best to make Menchville one of the best schools around, he is constantly answering questions, signing forms, talking with parents, coordinating activities, and helping students. When he is not busy, he can be seen in the halls mixing with the student body, keeping himself in close contact with what's going on. Mr. Caywood has been principal of both Warwick High School and Newport News High School, and has been with Menchville since its beginning. He has a B.S. and Masters in Education Administration from Lincoln Memorial University and University of Virginia. John M. Caywood is truly an important and necessary part of Menchville High. Mr. Caywood seems to have an uncanny ability to cope with sudden problems which may occur. While the mere mention of most principals starts students shaking in their shoes, Mr. Caywood's name brings to mind a sometimes serious, often smiling face.

"TO THE CLASS OF 1975: Thank you for the contributions which you have made to the success of Menchville High School. It is our hope that we have helped in some way to assist you in moving toward a happy and successful life.

Our very best wishes to you in the years ahead."

Guidance counselor - 10th, 11th + 12th

Helping and directing students with their future is the Guidance Department. Students can consult with their guidance counselor on selecting colleges, obtaining financial aid, adjusting schedules, or solving personal problems.

Heading the department is Mrs. Clara Hines who received a B.S. & M.S. from North Carolina Central University and Hampton Institute. She has been in the school system for 14 years.

"Have a meaningful life. Live life to its fullest. Work hard and play hard. Don't be afraid to be adventurous; try new and better ways of doing things. Be true to yourself and fair in your dealings with others. Continue to learn and grow with your own experiences. Be happy, smile, love, and have fun. It's your life."

The 1974-75 school year marked the fifth year on Menchville's administrative staff for Mr. Clarence C. Johnson. He is the Assistant Principal in charge of building maintenance. He has been involved in the educational field for 42 years. Mr. Johnson received his formal education at Columbia University, Hampton Institute, Virginia State College, and the college of William and Mary, acquiring his B.S. and M.A. degrees. Prior to coming to Menchville, he held various positions in teaching and administration. In addition to being a science teacher, he was an atheletic director for nineteen years and an assistant principal for nine years.

"The student body is an unusually cooperative and friendly group. They have great pride in their school. The staff is well prepared and most of the teachers are enthusiastic about their work and are intensely interested in the total development of their students."

Mr. Robert G. Johnson is heading the Math Department once again this year. He received his B.A. and M.Ed. from the College of William and Mary. He has been teaching for a total of 7 years now. Math is usually one of the subjects students want to stay away from. Mr. Johnson strives to keep the interest of these non-Math Majors as well as well as provide challenges for the Math Whizzes. He has proved to all that he genuinely cares.

A place of diligent study, peaceful relaxation, and learning current news happenings is Menchville's modern Media Center. Always helping students is our head librarian, Marilyn S. Kawalkiewicz. Mrs. Kawalkiewicz graduated with a B.A. from the University of New York and the College of William and Mary. She has been in the school system for 14 years. Menchville's students are greatly indebted to our librarian.

Students may frequently see Assistant Principal, Mr. Stanley Lovett, Jr. slip in and observe various classrooms. Mr. Lovett has been Assistant Principal for 3 years at Menchville and is in charge of finding substitutes, checking out complaints against teachers, and solving discipline problems. Mr. Lovett was previously a science teacher at Carver and later Activities Director at Warwick High School. All in all, he has been with Newport News School System for 14 years. Mr. Lovett graduated with a B.S. and M.A. from Hampton Institute.

"Congratulations to the Senior Class of 1975. As one of your assistant principals for the past 3 years, it has been my responsibility to assist our principal in providing a program at Menchville High School that will promote a maximum student growth. My greatest reward this year has been the times when I have observed you taking advantage of these wonderful opportunities afforded you. It has been a pleasure working with you and I wish the best for all of you."

With so many students at Menchville, Judith McConnell never has an idle moment. There is always a full clinic, and she is always ready to lend a helping hand no matter how minor the ailment. Mrs. McConnell was a R.N. at University of Virginia Hospital School of Nursing. She has been a school nurse for 10 years, and has listened to descriptions of a surprising variety of unheard illnesses. To be sure, she never has a dull day.

Mr. Larry Paffrath returned again this year as the Assistant Principal in charge of Student Affairs making this his second year here at Menchville. It is his responsibility to oversee special services and scheduled events. Mr. Paffrath gained experience in working with students during his previous 6 years as a guidance counselor at Newport News Intermediate and a basketball coach at Ferguson. He is a graduate of the College of William and Mary where he got his B.A. and M.Ed.

Mr. Paffrath relates: "We can list many accomplishments that would make us number one, but there is something more important than our achievements, successes, and victories-and that is the atmosphere of cooperation and closeness in which we accomplish things. This closeness and general concern for one another is something that only happens when a school is truly number one."

The head of the English Department is Mrs. Irvene F. Seney. She received her B.S. from the University of Northern Iowa and the College of William and Mary. She has been teaching for 17 years and has been the department chairman for 5 years. Mrs. Seney, handling the largest department in the school, has her work cut out for her each day of the week. However, she is never too busy to help a student.

It isn't difficult to spot the Boy's Physical Education Department Head. It is Mr. James D. Snow. He received his A.B. at Elon College and has been teaching for a total of 23 years. Coach Snow is the Baseball and Football Athletic Director this year. It is his ambition and enthusiasm that encourages many of our teams on to place in top rankings.

Mr. David Solomon, head of the Instrumental Music Department, is well known on campus for providing entertainment for all ages to enjoy. He went to Shenandoah Conservatory of Music. It was there he earned his B.A. Mr. Solomon has been teaching for 14 years. His efforts and many hours of rehearsing have proved rewarding and keep our band No. 1 on the Peninsula.

A genuine appreciation of the aspects of music is encouraged in the Vocal Music Department. The various enriching vocal classes consist of Music Theory, Girl's Chorus, Mixed Chorus, A Cappella, and Madrigals. The Vocal Music Department is headed by Mrs. Hattie Webb who teaches all vocal classes and Music Theory. Mrs. Webb has taught for 12 years, received a B.S. from Hampton Institute and a M.A. from Columbia University.

Imagination, initiative, and enthusiasm characterized the 1975 Senior Class. Sponsoring the wildest Banana Split Contest (and winning) along with various Spirit Weeks throughout the year, Seniors were often looked at by others who seemed to be asking, "What next!?"

The Seniors banded together and paid their exorbitant $4.50 class dues which enabled them to have a free Senior Prom and inexpensive Senior Banquet. Both proved a good time for reminiscing and fun. Graduation was the only remaining obstacle to cross and as the Seniors were turned loose, good advice was, "Watch out world!"

Without a doubt the Junior Class looks forward to becoming next year's Srs. But while waiting to move up to this position they first had to complete a successful year as Jrs. During this year they held a car wash, took SCAT and STEP tests, and got their first taste of SAT's from PSAT-NMSQT's. As usual the two biggest events of the year were class rings and the Ring Dance. The theme of the Ring Dance was "Saturday in the Park." In addition Juniors were able to purchase class rings in any stone color they pleased, rather than just the traditional purple and gold.

"An exceptionally spirited class." These words justly descibed the Sophomore Class, with Judy Weinstein as president. Challenging the Juniors and Seniors to a hall decorating contest, they demonstrated this spirit by not only sponsoring the contest, but by winning it as well. Their spirit was furthered by a group of students who paraded through a pep assembly with posters spelling out "Sophomores". With many other activities, including a dance in the Spring, the Class of 1977 showed they were an instrumental part in making Menchville High School the best.

Juniors Spend "Saturday in the Park"

The cafeteria became unrecognizable on December 14th as decorations transformed it to fit the theme of "Saturday in the Park". A sparkling waterfall, realistic pine trees, and a glittering handmade mirror ball enhanced the mood of the Junior Ring Dance. The occasion was to celebrate the arrival of the long-awaited class rings. Great dancing-music was provided by the group "Hunger".

Juniors enjoy the music of Hunger. A few moments are taken out to socialize during the band break.

Harry Tully receives from his date, the first of seventy-six turns on his new ring. The time finally arrives for juniors to receive their rings. Donnie Collins and date Karen Mashburn take time out from dancing for refreshments. Chaperones take a well-deserved break to enjoy cake and punch.

People have often asked,
"What makes Menchville so great?"
We feel that, having looked at these pages,
The answer is clear to the reader.
It is the PEOPLE.
They are what make Menchville Number One.

The people proved their superiority again and again in academics, activities, and athletics.

Aren't you glad that you were part of a year when
MHS was Number One?

To Raymond
a dude in school who Always came out top in anything
I tried to succeed in. Think of me after.

"Re"

P.S. you have great potential

Raymond.
a crazy, nice and cute cuz that I will always remember.
Remember the fun we had in church and on the church groups trips.
Remember me as just one of your cuz's and the fun we had.

To Raymond,
You a very nice Young man who is a friend of mine so I hope you will have much luck
in the upcoming future.

RAYMOND CARTER

To Raymond
A true Blue Dummy who will never get anywhere (smile) A friend to the end of time. Stay Sweet And Cute. I wish you the Best of Luck ~~in~~ with all of your women ~~especially~~ especially Barbara.
What ever field you choose or where ever you go MAY the Best of Luck be with you always.
